Columbia, SC...During December 2010, the SC Department of Employment and Workforce (DEW) proposed various regulatory changes, and one of those changes was a proposal to change the due dates for wage and contribution reports for employers (Reg. 47-15 and 47-16). Because this would be considered a regulatory change, the DEW had to allow the public to comment during a 30-day window and hold a public hearing. After receiving comments via mail and holding the public hearing, the DEW has decided not to pursue the regulation change to 47-15 and 47-16 regarding the due dates for wage and contribution reports. These reports will continue to be due by the last day of the month following the end of a calendar quarter.

DEW, however, encourages all employers to file these reports as early as possible and to also utilize the South Carolina Business One Stop (www.scbos.sc.gov) electronic filing portal for easy and secure electronic filing.
